

Castro Offers Peace But on His Terms

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro offered Friday night to "begin anew" a quest for peace with President Kennedy's administration. But the Cuban prime minister made clear it would be strictly on his own terms.

The main condition for reconciliation laid down by Castro was a "mistaken and absurd" policy of the United States toward his Communist-oriented revolutionary regime.

While Castro was laying down peace terms in a two-hour speech to followers at the Presidential Palace, his fiery younger brother sounded a belligerent note in an address at Santiago.

Raul Castro, minister of Cuba's armed forces, told supporters that imperialist dangers still existed and vowed "20 Yankees" would fall for every militiaman killed in defense of Cuba.

Both Castros addressed civilian soldiers who are being partly demobilized after Cuba's three-week military alert against a "Yankee invasion" that never came.

But despite the presence of some 50,000 militiamen at the Presidential Palace to hear Fidel, hundreds of others remained on duty at key posts.

The bearded prime minister made it plain in his speech that no changes could be expected in his regime that might help open the door to the type of relations he desires with the new U.S. administration.

He suggested that all the difficulties existing between the two nations were due entirely to the policies of the Eisenhower administration. He asserted the change-over in Washington did not mean that the danger to Cuba or the world at large had disappeared.

RAVAGES OF WAR—Brush fire war in Laos, tiny country on the Indochina peninsula, drove these refugees from the administrative capital of Vientiane in the 76-hour battle which won the city for the pro-American forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. Most refugees fled with only the clothes on their backs and easily carried items. A few had bicycles.

Court Won't Speed Ruling in Race Case

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today refused to advance from Feb. 20 a hearing on a temporary injunction which prevents 46 Haywood County, Tennessee, landowners from terminating contracts with sharecroppers.

The landowners, in asking quicker action on Jan. 16, said the injunction "is paralyzing farming arrangements" for the 1961 cotton crop.

The sharecroppers are Negroes. The Justice Department claimed the Negroes were being evicted from their homes because they registered to vote in the 1960 election.

All contracts between landowners and sharecroppers ordinarily expire on Dec. 21.

In refusing to advance the hearing, the appellate court said a special convocation would not serve to expedite the determination of the issues involved. The court will go into regular session Feb. 6.

Health of New President Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. Kennedy's doctors said today his health continues to be excellent. The statement was issued in response to newsmen's inquiries about two hours before Kennedy was scheduled to be sworn in as president.

"A physical examination this month indicated that President Kennedy's health continues to be excellent," said a statement signed by Dr. Eugene J. Cohen and Dr. Janet Travell, both of New York.

Dr. Travell treated Kennedy for the serious back ailment which brought him close to death a few years ago. It was a flare-up of an injury he suffered while in college, and was aggravated when the PT boat which he commanded was slashed in half by a Japanese destroyer during World War II.

Hull declined to say what part Faubus played in the discussion. Faubus was not available for comment.

"Our position is that we think that before any change is made in the administration of higher education, there is a need for additional study," Hull said. "We feel the institutions have made a lot of progress on a basis of voluntary cooperation and we think improvement can continue on this basis."

Hull said the presidents would appear next Tuesday at a public hearing scheduled by the House Committee on Institutions of Higher Learning. The committee will discuss the super-board bills and make a recommendation to the house.

K's Farm Policy Change Approved

MOSCOW (AP) — The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party today approved premier Khrushchev's call for a major reorganization of the management of the nation's vast farming program, with increased emphasis on scientific methods.

As a start, the committee called for a new plan for irrigating millions of acres of farmland in hopes of offsetting setbacks from bad weather and bad management.

Awarded for Courtesy to Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today presented Miss Helen Montgomery a plaque noting the haven she provided for newsmen assigned to cover him.

Miss Montgomery, who lives across the street from Kennedy's home in Georgetown, opened her home to newsmen waiting for periodic announcements from Kennedy's door step during the winter.

After returning from an early morning Mass, Kennedy walked over to Miss Montgomery's house, shook hands with her family, and said "Let me see where you have had everybody in here."

He went into her home and signed a guest book on the living room table.

Miss Montgomery had saved the first place in the book in hopes that he would sign.

After Kennedy signed, he unwrapped the plaque and, handing it to her, said "This is in behalf of all the newsmen."

Miss Montgomery, who was unable to fight back the tears, exclaimed "Oh, senator." Then, flustered, she said, "Pardon me, Mr. President-elect, but I can't help calling you senator."

Kennedy read the inscription on the plaque to Miss Montgomery, and she said "That's simply wonderful."

The newsmen not only warmed themselves in the home, but were served coffee and food, and were permitted to install telephones in her living room.

They got together and had the plaque made and then asked Kennedy to present it to her.

The inscription reads: "In the cold winter of 1960-61 this house had an important role in history. From it was flashed to the world news of preinaugural announcements by President John F. Kennedy. Presented by the grateful newsmen who were given warm haven here by Miss Helen Montgomery and her father, Charles Montgomery."

Says American Is Red-Tinged

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist Foreign Office, in a written statement today, called American writer Edgar Snow, a man who has been "paying court to the Chinese Communists ever since the 1930s."

The statement by the Foreign Office followed a Look magazine article in which Snow reported on an interview he had with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai.

"No one," the Foreign Office statement said, "could more properly be called a fellow traveler than Edgar Snow. One must take Snow's observations on China with more than a grain of salt."

Reaction to Kennedy's Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy drew the acclaim of Republicans as well as Democrats for what they described as a "brilliant," "inspiring" and "magnificent" inaugural address today.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the GOP leader in the Senate, called it "inspiring" and "a very compact message of hope."

And Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House Republican leader, said "I was much impressed."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, said of the speech, "it was magnificent."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant majority leader described it as "the American message to the world," and said it gave "a true picture of our country."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the GOP whip, said all Americans would subscribe to the splendid goals Kennedy outlined.

Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called it "a tremendous challenge to all of us."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the Conference of GOP Senators, said the speech "hit the nail on the head."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who was ambassador to India under President Eisenhower, said the speech was "first-class, awfully good."

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate, and Kennedy's nominee as ambassador to the United Nations, said the speech was eloquent and inspiring—"It was a great speech."

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., called it "great, wonderful, an excellent broad statement of our objectives all over the world."

Averell Harriman, former Democratic governor of New York, who is to be Kennedy's ambassador at large, said it was "an historic speech."

French Ambassador Herve Alphand said that Kennedy had outlined a well-balanced and excellent formula which will have great effect.

Alphand singled out Kennedy's phrase "Let us never negotiate out of fear; but let us never fear to negotiate."

Canada's Ambassador A. P. D. Heeney said the speech "was an excellent beginning for the new administration."

Laos Columns Are Advancing

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A Laotian government column today pushed to within 10 miles of the important Phou Khoun road junction commanding the western approach to the rebel held Plain of Jars.

The column had advanced north from Vientiane. It captured the rebel base at Vang Vieng Monday and has driven 30 more miles north, reports from the front said.

Youths Held for Blevins Break-in

Two youths, ages 11 and 15, were arrested this morning in connection with the burglary last night of the Land of Lakes egg farm at Blevins. Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said the boys, who lived in the area, took $11.00 from the farm office during the night.

Kennedy Will Depend On Demo Congress

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is off to a flying start with a Democratic-controlled Congress on which he is depending to pass his legislative program.

Although there is some minor commotion over the timing, the Senate appears likely to give swift approval to the new chief executive's Cabinet and other top appointments. That approval may come today.

His domestic program will start rolling with scheduled Senate consideration within a few days of a bill to provide federal aid for depressed areas plagued by chronic unemployment.

Kennedy dazzled Republicans and Democrats alike with a 14-minute inaugural address Friday in which he told the world crisply that America will "pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty."

Kennedy did not deal in any specifics or recommend congressional action. That will come later presumably in a series of individual messages.

His inaugural talk drew approving comment from both Republicans and Democrats.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Kennedy's summation of America's position in the world was "a very compact message of hope."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called Kennedy's talk "magnificent."

Assistant Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said the new President had laid out a blueprint for "an administration of vitality."

Robert F. Kennedy, his brother's choice for attorney general, thought the message "touched everybody." Adlai Stevenson, nominee for ambassador to the United Nations, said the new President had "reaffirmed our dedication to our own freedom and to freedom around the world."

Kennedy sent the formal nominations for his 10 cabinet members and that of Stevenson to the Senate shortly after he took the presidential oath. Republicans were amused that a White House clerk forgotfully had stamped their copies with the signature of the retiring president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As he had done before, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., objected to action on the appointments until reports could be made available by committees which held advance hearings on the nominations.

Mansfield called the Senate into a morning session with the assurance the reports were ready. All 10 Cabinet appointees and Stevenson, who will have cabinet rank, have won the informal approval of the committees.

Truman Has Offered Aid to Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today he has told incoming President John F. Kennedy he will do whatever Kennedy wants him to do.

Truman said he did not offer Kennedy any advice during their conversation.

"Advice is the cheapest thing in the world," Truman said, "and nobody listens to you anyhow."

"He knows the history of government as well as anyone I've met and that includes me," Truman said.

"I am an old retired farmer, now 77 years old. I am old enough to know better but I am willing to serve in any capacity Kennedy wants me to."

"I want his administration to be an outstanding success," he added.

As for the four years ahead, Truman said Kennedy is "young enough to stand the gaff. Kennedy's election has not gone to his head. That's remarkable. I know. I've been through it."

No Question About It, the Little Things Are Many Times the Most Important

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Hope Star Feature Writer

We've heard it said and sung that "little things mean a lot." But is it really true? Let's think just a minute. (We are starting with something small — that minute.)

January is the small end of the calendar, so it would seem this is a good time to talk a little of little things. They mean pain if it's a splinter in the eye, or peace of mind if it's a faithful even the size of a mustard seed.

A letter, no matter what size, and of what importance, must have a stamp to be mailed. Any cook knows the value of a "pinch of salt." A twinkle in the eye can change the entire meaning of what you are saying and so can a small screw.

According to the story, a little boy saved an entire nation by plugging a tiny hole in a dike to prevent a little trickle from becoming a flood. And wasn't it a stray that for years had been credited with breaking that camel's back?

To show the value of one vote in an election or a decision, we are told that when President Andrew Johnson was impeached by the House of Representatives, one vote in the Senate kept him from being convicted. That one important vote was cast by a senator from Kansas who had been elected by one vote.

Who is the most important member of any household? Why, the finest one, of course. Why always takes precedent over others. Even a baby wildest has its charm, temporarily.

Little things were emphasized in the tale that began "for want of a nail the shoe was lost" and concluded with an entire battle being lost for want of a little old nail. A handshake by a reliable person is not large but is highly regarded as a "gentleman's agreement."

It is harder to make a short speech and cover the subject, but it is more apt to make a good impression and usually carries more weight. Petty words and feelings can destroy the friendships it has taken a lifetime to build, just as tiny insects called termites have been known to demolish an entire structure.

Our list of important little things is in itself quite long. You probably have your personal additions to make to those already named. Juli Carney illustrated this subject with a few well chosen words:

Make the mighty ocean and the pleasant land.
So the little moments humble though they be,
Make the mighty ages of eternity.

Cabinet Formally Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, within an hour after taking office, today formally nominated the 10 members of his Cabinet.

The President also sent to the Senate the nomination of Adlai Stevenson to be ambassador to the United Nations.

The Cabinet choices all had been announced long ago, and Senate committees have approved them.

But Kennedy could not formally send their nominations to the Senate until he became president.

It was his first official action as chief executive.

The nominations papers were brought to Kennedy at the Capitol while he was having lunch in the Old Supreme Court Chamber. This was so that he could put his signature to the papers.

Algeria Rebels to Keep Fighting

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The premier of the rebel Algerian government said today his people will keep fighting the French until they get guarantees satisfactory to them of a free referendum to determine their future.

Premier Ferhat Abbas addressed the Indonesian Parliament.

Teachers on Strike After One Attacked

REEDS SPRING, Mo. (AP) — All the teachers at the Reeds Spring schools stayed away from classes again today and the school board says it is 100 per cent behind them.

"Over three months ago, while on official duty, a teacher was attacked by a local citizen with a deadly weapon....We have found it impossible to get even a preliminary hearing....Action must be taken by all of the citizens to see that justice prevails."

Nineteen teachers signed the come back," said Superintendent Mearle Bell.

"We are backing them 100 per cent," said Rudy Summers, one of the six members of the school board.

Ralph Arnold, 54-year-old Reeds Spring construction worker, was charged Nov. 4 with assault and battery with a deadly weapon (a 10-inch wrench) on Emory Dalan, industrial arts teacher. Dalan had whipped Arnold's 15-year-old son, Mickey.

Arnold's hearing in magistrate's court has been postponed four times and he is free on $5,000 bond.

The teachers' protest meant an unexpected holiday for the 400 pupils at the Reeds Spring elementary, junior and senior high schools. Most of them come from Ozark farms in the countryside.

At a two-hour emergency session Thursday, the school board reviewed long disciplinary troubles with Mickey Arnold and affirmed that Dalan did not punish him unreasonably.

Ike's Tenure to Take Long to Annalize

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today was the day the presidency changed hands and Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years as chief executive moved into the history books, his job done and waiting to be judged. What will the judgment be?

No matter what, it will be long coming because of the nature of the times. What looked like minor actions may prove to have been great victories, what seemed like major successes may prove to have been the roots of disaster.

In the past week Eisenhower tried in several ways to give his own appraisal of his eight years in office. Yet all he said could be summed up in the words of his predecessor, President Truman, before he left office in 1953.

Truman then, looking back over his own record, recalled an inscription on an Arizona tombstone and said it was the greatest epitaph a man could have or hope for: "He done his damndest."

The two retiring presidents used similar language in summing up what they considered their main achievement: preventing another world war and stopping communism from overrunning the earth.

Truman, just a few weeks before he turned the White House over to Eisenhower, pointed to a world globe which Eisenhower had sent him as a present in 1945 and said: "During these eight years, we've kept this old world out of disaster."

This week Eisenhower at his last presidential news conference pointed to his firmness in blocking Communist threats and gambit and picked out as a major accomplishment this: "We have actually stopped many of these risks (created by communism) from becoming realities."

Eisenhower called his big disappointment the failure to get to a place "where he could say it now looks as if permanent peace with justice is really in sight."

This, of course, was a major disappointment for Truman, too. He not only couldn't get close to peace but, at the moment of his retirement, was fighting the Korean War to keep the Red tide back.

The two men's White House careers paralleled each other in several ways.

Truman had the daring and firmness to smash the Communist blockade of Berlin, to intervene to prevent the Russians from gobbling up Greece and Turkey, to go to war in Korea—all to stop

Education to Be Key Word Of Lawmakers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Apparently education will be the key word in the last six weeks of the 63rd Arkansas Legislature's session.

The lawmakers apparently realize that the state's institutions of higher learning need more money. But they must decide whether to tax soft drinks to provide the funds.

Also, they must decide whether at state board of higher education should be set up for the University of Arkansas and the seven state-supported colleges.

And Arkansas State College at Jonesboro still is expected to make a spirited bid for university status.

It adds up to several interesting rounds of controversy in which the state's growing educational needs will be brought out.

Friday, presidents of the University of Arkansas and the seven colleges met with legislators and Gov. Orval E. Faubus to ask that the people be allowed to vote on their proposed tax on soft drinks to finance a $52 million construction bond issue. It was a closed-door conference.

There is some fear in education circles that the legislature might not allow the proposed tax come up for a vote. But Dr. J. W. Hall of Arkansas Tech, spokesman for the presidents, said Friday, "I don't see how the legislature could refuse to let the people vote on this matter."

Both houses adjourned Thursday and will convene Monday afternoon.

The proposed referendum on the penny-a-bottle tax was greeted only in the House this week after it was introduced by Columbia Rep. Harry J. Colay.

Strong opposition has come from soft drink bottlers who claim the proposed tax will seriously damage their industry. They cite figures which they say show that other states have lost bottling companies—and jobs—because of similar taxes.

The college presidents, while they are plugging for the proposed tax bill which they drew up, are fighting the single board of higher education. Such a board actually would amount to a board of finance. Academic programs would be left to the individual college boards.

Hull would not make a definite statement on the presidents' stand on a "super board," but he did indicate they would oppose it.

"We have made good progress in recent years through voluntary co-operation," Hull said. "We think improvement will continue under

8 Ouachita Students Suspended

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Eight Ouachita Baptist College students have been suspended for thefts of examinations, J. W. Cady, dean of students, announced today.

Cady said one student was caught in the act of stealing a test from an instructor's office and that the others were implicated in the ensuing investigation. He declined to identify any of the students.

A number of students were suspended in a similar incident recently at the University of Arkansas. One fraternity there also was suspended.

Cady said the Ouachita students suspended represented a cross section of the enrollment. He said the suspensions will be reviewed after Dr. Ralph W. Phelps, the college president, returns from Fort Worth, where he is attending a meeting.

Phelps said in Fort Worth, "We certainly will not tolerate this sort of conduct in a Christian school and institution of higher learning." He said the review would be to determine whether the suspension should be permanent or for a stated period of time.

Ike's Tenure

communism in its tracks. The most visibly bold action Eisenhower took was to send troops into Lebanon to stop the Reds from swarming all over the Middle East. His firmness no doubt discouraged another Red blockade of Berlin, despite Russian threats.

It was Truman who set up the foreign aid program which Eisenhower continued. It was Truman who created foreign military alliances which Eisenhower not only adopted but expanded.

Yet, while Truman stopped communism, he could not control events at home. By the time he left office the country was split down the middle by McCarthyism, fear of Communists in government, dissension over the Korean War.

Eisenhower, a calmer and less cocky and belligerent man, managed to bring peace not only in Korea but at home, too, until, by the time he ran for his second term in 1956, McCarthyism was dead and dissension pretty much healed.

Perhaps Eisenhower's greatest contribution to the presidency—although he didn't mention it—was as a kind of national pacifier and a bridge between two vital eras of American history.

By his own cheerfulness he was a force in keeping the country calm, or pretty much so, for eight years.

The Communist bloc has been building and hoarding its strength in recent years. It may be confident enough now to try new and far greater adventures than were possible eight years ago.

The great unknown factor in Eisenhower's stewardship is this: Did he do enough to keep abreast of the Russians in missiles and space. He thinks so. Only history and the years ahead will be able to say yes or no.

Kenzie voiced the closing prayer. The second session of the study will be held Monday, Jan. 23 at the church.

Cub Scouts Den 1 Meet
On Monday afternoon Cub Scout Den 1 met at the home of den mother Mrs. Alfred Gordon with Mrs. Wayne Jordan and Mrs. John Guiley assisting.

The meeting opened with the flag ceremony and during the hand-draft period the boys worked on their scout scrap book. For the closing ceremony the cubs formed the living circle and repeated the cub scout promise.

Dick Stewart spent Tuesday in Little Rock.

Jeter Willis motored to Texarkana on Tuesday and was accompanied home by his son, Herbert Willis, who has been a patient in St. Michaels Hospital.

Mrs. A. E. McGuire has returned from Little Rock where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Dawson Jr. and family.

M. L. Phillips has returned to Crowell, Okla. after a visit with his sisters, Mrs. R. L. Chadwick, Miss Ella Phillips and other relatives.

Mrs. Julia Gann spent several days this week in Little Rock to be with Mrs. C. G. Hall and attend funeral services for Mr. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Rosston of Columbia, Tenn. announce the arrival of a daughter, Joda Lynn, born Jan. 13. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McGuire of Prescott.

Ego Runs Wild
The career of a child star ends inevitably with adulthood, but Baby Jane's ego stayed on. She watched her sister's climb to fame with envious hatred. And then came a crash—a literal crash when her sister's career ended in a crippling accident. The two sisters lived on, dreaming dreams and hating. For suspense, read—

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE?

The Leopard Lost Change at Opera

By ANTHONY WHITE
LONDON (AP)—Shapur the leopard seems to have lost his chance for a slink-on role in opera.

He bit the tenor. "I don't think this leopard is a suitable stage partner," said the singer, Charles Craig.

Sadler's Wells Opera House next Wednesday will present a new production of Strauss' opera "Ariadne auf Naxos." Craig will sing the role of the good Bacchus who in mythology is usually accompanied by a leopard. In the interests of realism—and publicity—the opera management decided a live leopard was needed.

The Bertram Mills Circus obligingly supplied Shapur for an audition Thursday.

The 140-pounder from Bengal seemed amiable enough, and Craig stroked him to introduce himself.

Shapur blinked, sniffed—and bit the tenor on the arm.

It wasn't a bad bite, but Craig complained: "He hadn't even heard me sing when he bit me. Goodness knows what he would do with a full orchestra and singers in full blast."

"The audition was not a complete success," a spokesman for the company admitted. "The leopard uttered only one note—a low growl. That seemed more ominous than operative."

"It was only intended that the leopard should appear for a short time in the last act. But we may have to change our plans now."

Twelve Belgians Jailed in Congo
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The U. N. Command today said 12 Belgians have been arrested by incensed rebels in Stanleyville seeking revenge for the transfer of Patrice Lumumba into the hands of his enemies in Katanga Province.

U. N. overtures for the Belgians' release were curtly rejected. The rebels charged the U. N. Command with connivance in the ex-premier's transfer from an army camp near Leopoldville.

Late Show Sat. at Saenger Also Tuesday Feature

SAL MINEO AS GENE KRUPA STARS IN THE TITLE role as one of the great drummers of our times. Starring with Mineo are Susan Kohner, James Darren, Susan Oliver, Red Nichols, Bobby Troup, Anita O'Day, Shelly Manne and Buddy Lester. Don't miss, "The Gene Krupa Story" the pounding story of a jazz great!

Sunday & Monday at Saenger

TRYING TO GET OUT—Orville E. Hodge, former Illinois state auditor who is serving a 12-15-year sentence at Menard Penitentiary for theft of state funds, conducts an audio-visual class, one of his duties in the prison which is located in Chester, Ill. Hodge has filed a petition asking the governor for clemency. Reasons given were complete restitution of the 1.5 million dollars taken and model behavior as a prisoner.

TIME FOR VIOLENCE

By NOEL M. LOOMIS

CHAPTER XXXVI

At the L.J. that afternoon, Stella's body was laid out in the front room, and people sat around in the semidarkness and talked in low tones. Ike Logan and Hepzibah were there with Ike's many children, all gotten up in pathetic Sunday clothes. Ike's face was skinned up and bruised, and he looked as if he had been run through a meat grinder, but he cornered Goodnight's foreman and borrowed tobacco, while Hepzibah sat quietly in a corner.

Bart saw Hector Johnson leave the front room, and got up to meet him outside. "Thanks," he said, "for helping."

"I never even fired," said Hector.

"The most dangerous gun," said Bart, "is the one that has not been fired."

Hector said, "I know you're wonderin' what happened this morning, Mr. Wagner."

"I certainly am," said Bart.

"Mr. Harding sent me after Johnson Jan. 14. The project for the year is cleaning of the cemetery. A discussion on health was held.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Beatrice McGill. Mrs. Esther McGill, reporter.

Ask for Vote on Soft Drink Tax Issue

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sponsors of a proposed soft drink tax and bond issue bill called on the Arkansas Legislature Friday to let voters decide the fate of the measure.

Presidents of the University of Arkansas and seven state-supported colleges issued the plea after a two-hour closed door meeting at the capitol Friday.

"I don't see how the legislature could refuse to let the people vote on this matter," said Dr. J. W. Hull of Arkansas Tech, spokesman for the presidents.

The proposal, which sets up a referendum on a proposed one-cent a bottle tax on soft drinks and a $52 million construction bond issue, was greeted coolly in the House after Columbia Rep. Harry J. Colay introduced it this week.

The President wrote the bill and they have been its principal supporters. Stout opposition has come from bottlers who claim the proposed tax will wreck their industry.

Hull said there was a chance the Legislature would refuse to let the people vote on the proposal.

Friday's meeting of the residents was called principally to discuss proposals to create a single board of finance for the eight institutions of higher learning. The bond measure was discussed, however, and most of the questions asked at a news conference following the meeting dealt with it.

Hull declined to make a definite statement on the group's stand on a "super board," but he indicated the presidents would oppose the proposals. "We have made good progress in recent years through voluntary co-operation," he said. "We think improvement will continue under this plan."

The presidents will take their view on super boards before the House Committee on Institutions of Higher Learning at a public hearing next Tuesday. A public hearing on the bond issues has been scheduled by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee on the following Tuesday.

The college presidents said construction is a major problem for all Arkansas colleges. "We have been scheduled by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee on the following Tuesday.

In discussing the bond measure with newsmen, the president emphasized that much of the needed construction will be designed to replace obsolete and temporary buildings now in use.

"This is not a major expansion program," said Dr. Silas Snow of Arkansas State Teachers College. "This is a catchup problem."

Several presidents said their libraries, for example, had been built for student bodies about one-third the size of present enrollments.

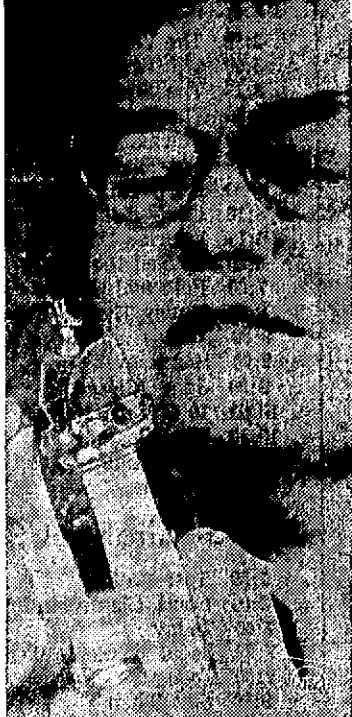

Hull said there had been no major construction of classrooms, laboratories and libraries in Arkansas for 30 years. Dr. Carl Reng of Arkansas State College said the Jonesboro school hadn't had a new building for these purposes in 22 years.

"We have shown that a need for this construction program exists," Hull said. "Now it is no longer a problem for college presidents alone. It is a problem for the state of Arkansas and the citizens of Arkansas. It can only be handled on a statewide level and that's what we are trying to do."

The group announced that individual schools would prepare and publicize exactly what they plan to do with their share of the bond money.

They rode over the hill, but Bart and Catherine were not watching. They were in each other's arms.

CROWN POINT—Mrs. Dorothy Flood puts a final stitch in a tiny crown in London, England. It completes the costume of her latest royal doll. She has made 85 authentically costumed figures representing all kings and queens of England from Boadicea (A.D. 62) to George V. This crown is for William of Orange.

...Keep Plodding

IF A

WRONG?

That's the spirit of the turtle. But he must not be kept from the race if there is to be a winner. God planned so wisely in setting us in a world of competition. No one runs his best without a competitor. We raise better corn when our neighbor tries to outdo us. Every church is better because of the church across the way. Catholics work harder and are more devout because Protestantism appeared. The Jewish polity strives, with all of us, toward a better society under God. God wants progress from all. Sometimes the faithful plodder, like the turtle, is a greater inspiration than one with more ability. May our pastor and our church grow into greater forces for good because of the faithful attendance and support of every member. May we keep plodding in wholesome competition.
